

As the Pittsburgh Regional Alliance (an affiliate of The Allegheny Conference on Community development) proclaims: Imagine what you can do here!

And then imagine that you live in Gateway Towers and that free events like this one sponsored by Venture Outdoors are but “a stone’s throw away,” are in your “back yard.”

Imagine the fun of watching young children taking on the challenge of an obstacle course race.

Imagine yourself waiting in line for your first ever kayaking or "rock climbing" experience.

Just imagine!

If you lived at Gateway Towers, this could be you. And you wouldn't have had to battle traffic or compete for a parking space. You would simply have strolled across the street to Point State Park.
